

NZ Trade Centre visitors looking for animal oils and plant extracts

This particular visitor to the Trade Centre is the General Manager of a company that operates actively between New Zealand and China. The business interests of this gentleman are as well organized as they are diverse and range from health products through to wine and electronic components.

The connections / partners in China that this company is associated with have 22 separate agents distributing into 22 different provinces. Needless to say this is a huge opportunity for any New Zealand exporter looking for new markets.

Of interest at this time to this business and their partners in China are animal oils and plant extracts that will be used in the manufacture of facial cosmetic products.

I have met with this businessman many times and found him to be professional and believe that he will prove to be an easy partner in business.

If you happen to be in business producing any of the above types of products and would like to learn more about this company or for a personal introduction, please email me, laurie@nztc.co.nz or call (09) 366 6879
